Wimbledon

Wimbledon 2009 will witness the introduction of the long-awaited retractable roof on Centre Court, which should mean an end to frustrating rain delays on the premium court.

Wimbledon, with its long history, has always occupied a special position in world sport. Its status has been further enhanced after the 2008 Nadal-Federer Final, which has been widely acclaimed as the greatest ever.

A day at Wimbledon is still one of the most sought-after invitations in corporate hospitality.
